Dear Mike,

Learning from your last letter about the latest information of robots, I am surprised at the rapid development. What shocked me most is its amazing operation and high speed.

As you know, robots have become very important part of our lives. Thanks to the robots, doctors can find diseases easily. In factories, robots have the ability to do work dangerous to humans. In business, robots are also widely used, which makes the world well connected.

There is no doubt that we depend a lot on robots in our daily life. However, once robots can think for themselves, problems like fighting between robots and people may appear, so we must use robots properly.

Best wishes!

Lihua
